MEMORATIDUM FOR: DI/A

SUBJECT:

Foreign Personnel

- l. It is our present practice to pay for the transportstion of personal effects and personal automobiles of prople vessel abread.
- 2. Insofar as furniture is concerned, it is not provide at to transport it from the U.S. to immore and back again in two years. No private individual going shroad for a few years we lid think of transporting his household furniture as it would be much cheaper to sell it or store it and acquire furnithire shr ad. It would be infinitely more economical for the Agency to own furniture and pass it on from family to family as personnel abroad changes. The cost of rehabilitation from time to time would be such less than the present cost of realing after the furniture arrives overseas.
- 3. With respect to automobiles, the case is not as chembut in practically no country in Europe do families with income comparable to most of our grades own automobiles and, in most cases, I doubt if this should be an Agency obligation. hear a mind that we do furnish stuff cars for the use of the exployer whenever it is needed and that our standards in this respect are very generous.
 - 4. I think a study of this problem would be justified.
